JOS. MILLER & SONS

GRANGER, MISSOURI

Foreword

CONSTRUCTIVE influences here characterized all the sales of Jas. Miller & Sons for two emphatic reasons—that their offerings emanate from a herd wherein constructive principles attain and such individuals as may be selected from other herds for mating with Miller sires have been chosen with a view to their fitness, both in conformation and breeding for the occasion. Thus, it will be refreshing to all irrespective of their years or their measure of success as Shorthorn breeders to witness the distribution of this offering, which takes rank as the most worthy lot of cattle they have yet sold. Adhering to higher individuality, a closer conformation to those lines of breeding which hold greatest fascination for the student of Shorthorn ancestry, and including even a greater percentage of the character of cattle which would prove immensely profitable to retain in their breeding pastures.

One step in their development that will receive the approval of breeders universally, is their selection of sires to assist and succeed Choice Cumberland. The results from Villager's King, introducing the blood of Villager, a cross modified with the blood of the Cumberlands, are already assured from the character of the youngsters that have put in appearance. Pride of Albion is radiant with prepotent force, giving assurance of unusual results, and through him comes not only the blood of the champion Pride of Oakdale, but is infused the blood of Shenstone, Albino and Whitehall Sultan with that of Choice Goods and March Knight, on a famous Miller "Jealousy" foundation. Both of these have been used liberally on the best females in the offering.

Here are cattle that can be dependably used for foundation and improvement uses and with them goes the reputation and prestige of men who stand high in the esteem of their fellows.

WALTER L. MILLER,
Of the Breeders Gazette.
